Even war has limits. International Humanitarian Law (IHL) is a set of rules that seeks, for humanitarian reasons, to limit the effects of armed conflict on non-combatants. The tightening of global relations means that the IHL and the Geneva Conventions are as much our concern as they are for warring countries. This seminar seeks to highlight the recent developments of the IHL and some of the major issues that are faced by the International Courts, details as follows:

“Current Challenges facing the International Criminal Court (ICC)”

Ambassador Noor Farida Ariffin

Former Director-General, Research, Treaties and International Law
Foreign Affairs Ministry of Malaysia

“International Law and the Syrian Crisis”

Prof Donald R Rothwell

Professor of International Law and Head of School, College of Law
Australian National University

“Engaging with Non-State Actors to Promote Compliance with IHL”

Mr François Sénéchaud

Head of Division, Integration and Promotion of the Law
International Committee of the Red Cross (Geneva)
